The value of standout service for your workplace pension

We know your workplace pension is a valuable benefit for your employees and a significant investment for your business - so you'll be looking for an outstanding service experience. But what does this look like?

Is it having a dedicated contact who'll take ownership and accountability for setting up and running your scheme?

Or is it knowing you'll receive the right communications, at the right time, to help you understand issues that may affect you and your employees?

We believe the key to outstanding service is all of these things, and more. That's why we aim to deliver exceptional service through great people, backed by smart technology.

Why we believe in outstanding service

We choose to focus on service because we understand the way we look after your scheme is a reflection of the choice you've made for your employees' pensions.

And we know your employees will want a pension provider who'll be there for them at key moments of truth.

Perhaps it's the peace of mind, during a crisis, that you and your employees will have someone to speak to on the end of the phone – rather than being passed from pillar to post?

From day one we were presented with a consistently high calibre of individuals from Royal London, with a great blend of hands on experience, enthusiasm and drive, and crucially with the people skills and behaviours to ensure we were always engaged and enthused throughout the process. The team were nothing short of phenomenal.

Service can impact you and your employees

Like any service experience, if it's not good enough - there's an impact.

And when it comes to your workplace pension scheme, receiving the opposite of exceptional service can affect your business.

It could mean you having to spend time resolving issues, missing regulatory duties or falling short of your employees' expectations.

If the service you receive isn't as expected, it could cost you time, money and reputation.

So, it's important to consider the difference outstanding service can make, especially over the long-term.

How we aim to deliver standout service

From the moment you start working with us, we hope you'll realise what outstanding service looks like.

Dedicated contacts

We'll give you a dedicated implementation manager who'll provide personal support and guidance throughout setting up your scheme. This contact will also give all the training needed to run the scheme, so you can be reassured you'll be equipped to stay on track.

And when you're happy to run your scheme, we'll hand you over to one of our scheme owners. They'll keep a watchful eye over the scheme just to help make sure everything is running smoothly.

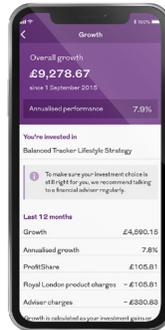

Backed by smart technology

We firmly believe that people provide the best support, but they need great technology behind them. That's why our online dashboard helps you run your scheme effectively. It's easy to use and will give you everything you need.

Actively engaging employees

We know you'll want your employees to see the benefits of your investment in them - so we make sure we help communicate this message from the start.

Whether it's raising awareness that the scheme is in place or helping employees manage their savings through our mobile app, their employee engagement hub or annual statement - we've covered all bases to help them engage with their pension.

And we don't stop there, we know financial wellbeing can impact you and your employees. So we provide guides that can help them navigate their finances in all aspects of their life - just another way we'll go the extra mile for your employees.

Our service in numbers

 19,000
employers

We give all 19,000 employers we work with a dedicated scheme owner. So you'll have one-on-one support when you need it.¹

seconds

On average, our calls are answered within 36 seconds - so you know your employees will be able to speak to someone when they need to.²

 24
hours

85% of our Income Release payments made last year were processed within 24 hours. Meaning your employees will be able to access their pension savings quickly when the time comes.³

 98%

During the Coronavirus outbreak, 98% of our employees were working from home, as normal, within nine days - giving you peace of mind we'll be available during a crisis.⁴

Don't just take our word for it.

During the implementation, I cannot praise our Implementation Manager highly enough. He was very patient in explaining the data requirements and thorough in his presentations. He was also extremely helpful and easy to contact outside of scheduled project calls if I had any extra questions.
