

You may be re-enrolled into your employer's pension plan

The introduction of auto enrolment has helped many more people save for their future by giving them access to a workplace pension. As part of their ongoing duties, your employer must re-enrol certain people back into their pension plan every three years. This leaflet tells you what this means for you.

I opted out or stopped making contributions to my employer's pension plan.

1. Depending on when you opted out or stopped contributing, you might be re-enrolled into the pension plan.

2. If you're re-enrolled into the plan, you'll receive communications. They'll tell you when you'll be re-enrolled and the contributions you'll make.

4. If you opt out or stop making contributions, you might be automatically re-enrolled into the plan every three years.

3. Your communications will include instructions on how to opt out or stop making contributions.

5. For more information about the new plan, go to yourplan.royallondon.com

Royal London
1 Thistle Street, Edinburgh EH2 1DG
royallondon.com

We're happy to provide your documents in a different format, such as Braille, large print or audio, just ask us when you get in touch.

All of our printed products are produced on stock which is from FSC® certified forests.

The Royal London Mutual Insurance Society Limited is authorised by the Prudential Regulation Authority and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority and the Prudential Regulation Authority. The firm is on the Financial Services Register, registration number 117672. It provides life assurance and pensions. Registered in England and Wales, company number 99064. Registered office: 55 Gracechurch Street, London, EC3V 0RL. Royal London Marketing Limited is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority and introduces Royal London's customers to other insurance companies. The firm is on the Financial Services Register, registration number 302391. Registered in England and Wales company number 4414137. Registered office: 55 Gracechurch Street, London, EC3V 0RL